A WOODLAND GARDEN FOR THE AGES
Excerpt from a story by Bob Hill

Consider an emerging woodland garden as musical theatre. Its spring-time overture the cheerful opening of a delightful play; the long-awaited flowers, shrubs and trees bursting out three-dimensional color, texture and song.

Then add the fourth dimension: Time. A woodland garden slowly reveals itself, then repeats the story again and again. Every year. Old, new, old, new and ever more grand for tens of thousands of giddy patrons.

So it is with the Moss Gibbs Woodland Garden, a 15-acre theatrical prodigy that mixes existing native plants with about 47,000 new plantings from tiny plugs to 15-foot ornamental trees.

To read the full story, visit theparklands.org/woodlandgarden

Photo Credits: Bob Hower - Cover Photo, Venerable Oak, Twinleaf, Dwarf Larkspur, Trillium Sessile, Eastern Redbud, Flowering Dogwood, Circle of Stones, Ky. Coffee Tree Rondel; Kayla Franck - Bloodroot, Mayapple, Hepatica, Wild Ginger; Tom Smarr - Yellow Trout-Lily

THANK YOU FOR VISITING!
The Moss Gibbs Woodland Garden is a living and ever changing landscape. We hope you return to see the garden as it changes . . .

● at different times of the day
● throughout the seasons of the year
● as it matures and evolves

The garden is entirely supported by donors. If you would like to donate to its continued care and growth, please call 502-584-0350 or visit theparklands.org
While exploring the garden, keep your eye out for these species!

- Twinleaf
- Bloodroot
- Dwarf Larkspur
- Sessile Trillium
- Eastern Redbud
- Flowering Dogwood
- Mayapple
- Yellow Trout-Lily
- Hepatica
- Wild Ginger